WILMINGTON, N. C.
FRIDAY, JULY 24, 1874.

STATE NEWS.

The rope with which John Allen Ketchum was bound, distributed among the superstitions, who have a notion that it will keep off witches, prevent disorders, &c.

The Charlotte Observer publishes a rumor to the effect that Col. J. F. Hoke, independent candidate for Judge in that district, had incurred in favor of the candidate, the regular Democratic nomine.

The Dalton Aspinwall says: We were shown yesterday, by our neighbor, Mr. L. H. Waddell, a cluster of nine fine, well developed apples, growing on a stem one and a half inches long. Who can beat it?

The Asheville Expositor says: We are shown yesterday, by our neighbor, Mr. L. H. Waddell, a cluster of nine fine, well developed apples, growing on a stem one and a half inches long. Who can beat it?

The Salmon Press says: When threshing is now going on extensively, results are favorable. It was found by some that the yield would fall short of expectation, but we are glad to say that it is greater than in any one harvest since the war.

The Milton Chronicle says: The tobacco factory and offices of Satherfield & Co., in the City of Milton, were destroyed by fire last week. About 6,000 pounds of leaf tobacco were also burnt. It is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

The Statesville Intelligencer says: Capt. W. H. Crawford, son of Capt. Senator Price, has been elected to the Senate from the State of North Carolina, while riding along the road near Marshall, Madison county, last Wednesday, was struck and instantly killed by lightning. His horse was killed in the accident.

The Warrington Gazette says: Master William Crawford, son of Capt. A. P. Crawford, has sold his Christmas four hundred and ten piano cases. When we remember that he only had ten, two of which set during the spring, Crawford must have been a very smart and industrious boy to have found so many.

The Charlotte Observer says: Mr. Charles J. Hedrick, a son of H. S. Hedrick and born at Chapel Hill, in this State, graduated last June at the University of New York, with the highest honors and spoke the Valencian language fluently.

He received two prizes, one of which was the degree of Doctor of Medicine.

Former experience had given me confidence in iodine by its use with others. I was determined to give a fair showing in my own case, unaided and unassisted, by any other means.

After casting my vote, I went to the office of Dr. H. H. Klemm, a lawyer, one is seldom a safe judge in his own case, the present bite has been long odds the severest snake bite I ever knew. Left to itself it would, in my opinion, have fatal results in a very short time.

Now I know from his heavy swelling about my legs, and I may add, from the depth to which I felt his fangs enter. My instantaneous suspicion, from the weight and severity of the pain, was that it was a large one, and that it was a very large and formidable one.

It was not long before I was told that the wound had been sown, and that it would still further baffle you to know what kind of snake was, but they would only still further baffle you. To set forth truly the efficacy of iodine must exceed my length. I do not know what kind of snake was, but they would only still further baffle you. To
